The problem is not that Enhancer shouldn't get updated, but that Enhancer is "updating" stuff that is still developed by another party (Hyperion) by simply overwriting certain system files (which is bad...as nearly everyone in this thread comes to the same conclusion...do not "enhance" system files that are still developed by another party and are still actively maintained and do not belong to you...that is just going to produce produce problems, as we all have already suffered --> Clock, Format etc.)

Or, in other words...Enhancer should pick their own names for their programs (like Multiview-->Multiviewer).
