I did not install the Enhancer NotificationsServer but I do get some notifications from the old RinghioServer.

So you have RinghioServer in your WBStartup? The original one that came with the OS? (or very early aeon version?).

Try disabling that and see if you still get the lockups.

Ranger shows a port called UPDATER.1 this port disappears after I click the close window (quit) gadget on the Updater window..

Cannot relaunch Updater but other programs launch ok, including web browsers.

Yes updater main process closes down but waits before final exit for it's child process (possibly while unregistering the app), the child process is hung.

The program needs some rework whatever your findings are but they will hwlp me work out if there are other issues than the ones I have identified.
