It's like saying, if I will buy something, and will do with it exactly what? If you don't know what, then why buy it or why even thinking about it ?:)

But seriously, isn't it's clear that there will be never a modern browser and office app? Our oses will always be for "fan", and not for real work. There no big companies, not big money and blablala.

And no, what have MorphOS now also can't be compared with today's browsers on popular OSes: big-endian issues all over the place, and some sites will always crash or not works, as they use little-endian for granted in their javascript code.

Those who today use amiga and AmigaOS do it not for the hope that there will be a browser or office :) Like, there nothing interesting, but use browser and office ?:))
