I almost always have these issues with 50% of ports. Developers on other platforms ... didn't notice issues, as automatic garbage collector did the trick

I also saw this quite often. Especially missing call of `SDL_Quit`. Anyway i can live with both behaviours. Maybe it is not save when `ogles2.library` deletes autom. valid contexts because it could belong to another program which is still being executed??

It would be good if others could express their opinion (pros/cons) and than Daytona can decide.
