

Subject: : AmigaOS4

Topic: : gcc 9 and 10

Re: gcc 9 and 10

Author: : sTix

Date: : 2021/2/12 12:20:24

URL:

@kas1e

Quote:

Btw, do you have an interest in working on newer Binutils? Why I ask, is that I download Morphos's SDK source code, and there is not that many changes in the diff file. Taking into account that we already have some version with specific amigaos4 changes + diff from morphos devs, it can be (i hope) a little bit easier?

Yes, I'm slightly interested (and slightly relectant). IMO the major gaps right now is git (sgit seems to have halted?) and gdb.

Quote:

And maybe after that, we can have at least working gdb (seeing patch sets from 5.3 version for os4, and changes in 8.3 version on morphos, it also didn't look like that hard).

Aren't you mixing up coreutils and binutils (I do that myself all the time)?

Examining the MorphOS patches sounds like a good idea. I'll have a peek but I can't make any promises, too much going on here with work, kids not in school due to covid-19 and so on...