I'll dig through the code to find out where the file is opened and let you know tomorrow. Given that the code used was `real_fseek` in `bfdio.c`, I'd guess that some `printf`s to lines 121-124 in that file will show which one was called or checking for where `HAVE_FOPEN64` is defined. I can checkout the branch before we fixed it tomorrow and let you know if that's ok.
