Why would I want to support a ridiculous effort to waste man-years of dev time to overwrite AmigaOS with lesser components?

Because Matthew wants to spend his own money as he wishes, and if part of his wish is to have decent 3D for amigaos4 and some other stuff which we need, it worth to close eyes on the mess with replaced components? (just like I and others do) and paid for in full with meaning that you pay only for part you need?

Imho you of course understand, that the time and money spend on this from everyone are much more than Matthew asks, and there is no profit at all but only labor of love?

Selling the components separately would have made more $$$ for the developers of quality improvements and compliments to AmigaOS.

Developers already got deserved $$$ from Matthews (and maybe Trevors too) pockets, and they are ok. Matthew just trying to get some $$$ back, which is MUCH less in comparison with the money he spends on at least work on 3D drivers. Probably we all can close eyes on the mess with replaced components which we can just skip and not install?:(
