Tried multiple times now.

The score is improved by over 400 points once the power prefs have been opened.

@Kas1e

What I do is reboot the computer and run the test a few times.

I then open the power prefs and close them again without changing the settings.

I then run the test a few times again.

After opening the power prefs, the test scores are over 400 points greater than the test score before the power prefs are opened.

Cheers
