That reads a little bit harshly, certainly doesn't come across as whining to me anyway.

@walkero

I'm probably biased here as I'm lucky enough to do a job where all of my code is open source so making my amiga stuff open source is just more of the same for me. The issue is getting the time. For instance, I haven't had a chance to look at the gdb port for a few weeks, though it looks like I'll be able to again from the start of next week.
