Cool, I was in fear you give up :)

As for another debugger that also good, but we surely need GDB, because we only need "to port" things which already done.

I also plan to add things like a gui to it too.

Do you mean to GDB? Yeah, that will be more or less easy, as it well documented how to make GUIs for GDB, and some of GUIs even already present in (i compile SDL2 fronted based on ncurses, and it works, through with lots of bugs).

What we need now is tracing to work, and it will be already usable.
