Emotion - the commercial version?

I have tested the demo version of Emotion in my X5000, and it is far from perfect... It can run 720p videos slightly sluggishly but does not seem to work with any streams from net ('unknown format').

How does the commercial version differ from the demo? Are there any improvements in stability and speed? Can you run net streams (also live ones, and in m3u8 format)? What is the max video/stream resolution you can run smoothly and sound sync with picture in a X5000/20 equipped with a) r7 240 or b) HD 5450?

(Please do not advertise the RX cards as they are incompatible with PPC Linux and thus completely useless for me!)
