Now that I am more confident that I can develop in MediaVault new features, I would like to introduce you a way to support it's development.

At my page at <https://ko-fi.com/walkero> I will set every time a goal of a new feature or improvements, described the best way I can, which you can help to achieve. As soon as this goal is fulfilled I will start working on it, and create the next one and let you know about it.

With your donations, not only you support MediaVault development, but 50% of the monthly/goal money will be donated to an other project, and 5% are donated to the ko-fi platform.

MediaVault will remain free for everyone to use and open source.

I hope you like this model of support and you will be happy with the results. Feel free to share with me your thoughts or if you agree or disagree.

Thank you all in advance for your support.
