After some time, I released today a new version of aiostreams v1.7.2

I hacked up my clipdown program to be an aiostreams launcher. You copy the URL of the desired video into the clipboard then click the "Play" button. It will then automatically select the proper PY script to execute based on the URL. It works but....

I've noticed that most of the sites don't work in Odyssey. The only ones I could get to work are Twitch and YouTube (both spoofing as iPad). Other sites will not display properly enough to show videos. Is there something I'm missing?
