You need to add include of necessary headers in amigaos specific files and open all the necessary libraries manually if you don't want to use -lauto

Also, about dynamic linking, do i understand right that what you want to build usually have lot's of .so , and small exe to use them ? If so, i imagine there will be all sort of new amiga specific issues with it :)

Static build from other side, can be too big for amiga maybe ? But at least if it didn't links into final binary properly (and didn't tried) on cross-compiler, it can be something just wrong with all ifdefs/ifs/elses in makefiles, etc.
