The ipf (IPFilter) thingie?

I never get it, too much techie talk, but getting a working firewall out of it with configurable rules would be a neat first step

That one. I didn't try it hough, with all ports closed there was no motivation to set this up. BTW: here in campus an average clean life of stock unpatched/unservicepacked freshly installed windblows 2k/xp is 2 minutes after setting the network up.
