didnt know should do this with sfs thanks again for your time

444f5303 and 444f5307 are DOSTypes of FFS2, for SFS you have to use 53465300 (or 0x53465302 for SFS\2), both for the SFS partitions (there you should be able to select "SFS\00" in the type cycle gadget instead of having to use "Custom filesystem" and entering the number) and when installing SmartFileSystem in the RDB ("Add, remove or edit filesystems", you have to enter/change the type number manually).
