

Subject: : SmartFileSystem

Topic: : Strange things are happening...SFS2

Re: Strange things are happening...SFS2

Author: : Slayer

Date: : 2009/6/1 23:22:28

URL:

@cha05e90

I wouldn't think that using a 1024k block size would cause this kind of side affect? but you never know? If all else fails and you are left to salvage your partition consider setting it up to use a 512k block size.

These types of errors are always a pain, unless specifically documented and known there are so many variables it drives you mad at times! 😊