Been using JXFS on nearly all partitons for a while now.

The only problem I had was with Amicygnix which wouldn't load on a JXFS partion.

This was fixed with the Quick update.

I have moved large amounts of data with no issues.

Had no corruptions with lbrowse when downloads crashed or something was writing to the cache.

This was often an issue on classic hardware using SFS and FFS.

No doubt that had much to do with slower, aging hardware.

I mention the above for the sole reason that if JXFS was likely to suffer problems at any point, this would probaby be it.
