It support only audio over audio cable. So it is no use for Sam users with sata cables. TunesNet play the audio via software like any modern system... just lack the Cddb 😞

Why should one play the data via software? Sounds like one hellova recourse hog to me, just encode them into something sensible with tags and play. If you still insist, the app doesn't now it plays cddb. In your situation, the audio is presented as regular files by the cd filesystem. PlayCD etc calculate the CD ID using track lengths on the media itself.

Anyway, TuneNet rocks here, I love the OSD display 🙏
