This thread is not meant as a restart of the locked one. As you can read from my first post in this thread, its about html5 support and that required gstreamer as the quote had inside it. So sinve people are complaining about lack of html5 they can help joerg by porting gstreamer and he will implement it 😊

This is the intention of this thread.

The best way to support Joerg would have been to NOT restart the locked thread, by not quoting the old one 😞 . IMHO this thread should be locked, and a new one started that is more clearly "how we help joerg" not "and this is what people were whining about" (that allows people to re-start the locked-thread issues).

BTW, is the source code to OS4's port of OWB fully available? If yes, then anyone else can theoretically look at adding stuff.
