Of course, for some of you it will be harder if compare with Crhis's RunInUAE, but in case with GLUAE you can control everything for every game/demo with no problems, just by changing the file.

Just to correct wrong statement: This is totally possible with RunInUAE too, if you really must use config file instead of a GUI. Just drop the game on RunInUAE's window, say Yes to creating/editing a (per game) config file, and then NotePad will open.

But IMHO better to use RunInUAE's Control E-UAE menu to change game settings (on a per game basis).
