I have this weird problem. If I use IBrowse for a while and then quit, the system goes into "slow motion mode". If I open other applications (or even IBrowse) after that, their loading times are much longer. If I start a movie clip with Mplayer, it loads much slower and playback studders a lot. Basicly, any disk operation done with the machine takes a lot of time (like DMA would suddenly be swithed off).

The problem goes away if I warm boot the machine. Nothing crashes, so there are no crash logs to examine. Any ideas what could cause this phenomenon?

Machine is unfixed A1-XE-G4@800 MHz, 512 MB RAM, -SiI0680, Radeon 7000, Soundblaster Live running OS4 Pre-Release Update 4 and IBrowse 2.3.
