Wow this looks like a great utility!

Of course I have a couple of suggestions for the current viewing model:

- use some sort of "treeview" style which summarizes by day/week/month (via options)
- you can then open a particular day or week or month to see the changes from that period

In addition, it would be nice if this could be integrated into the installation system somehow. This would enable creating a "named" install (i.e. "Firefox 4.01") and provide for a generic uninstall solution.

This is a follow-up to a thread here:

Cheers!
