Netsurf not have necessary for today's needs javascript :(What mean that users will choice FF or OWB till netsurf will not have JS. Maybe when netsurf will have JS, it also will be slower.

And btw, 800mhz is not fast. Its "ok". Fast for aos4 its cpu which works at least at 1ghz and more.

In other words, while its ok even with 400mhz, with 800mhz it will attract much more interest from users who know about amigaos nothing. I personally will buy one anyway even with 400mhz, just because i can do/test some code, while not at home (pretty important moment).

But anyway, hope for 800mhz version (all the fingers on the holy-cross) :)
