But should AmiUpdate be able to keep the stable release up to date?

Yes, but only to other stable releases (latest is v2.9). Some enterprising person could write something to download the latest dev build and auto-install it using TestAutoInstall (from AmiUpdate) or some similar mechanism, but the dev builds will never be auto-updated through AmiUpdate.

(I think for some reason mine does not seem to get updated automagically)

Any known issues with AmiUpdate + Netsurf?

ChrisH reported that v2.8 => v2.9 wasn't updating properly, but so far has failed to supply the Installer log file so I didn't get very far in figuring that one out. Nobody else has mentioned it (until now!)
