Will IBrowse v2.5 ever be released?

Folks,

Having seen the PowerPC-native beta build of IBrowse v2.5 at AmiWest a few months ago, I'm very eager for this to actually be released to the public. I'd be happy to pay for it, despite a lack of CSS2 support. The speed is just terrific.

I understand the hold-up thus far has been one of the developers on the original team. Is this still the case? Has the team given up on ever releasing this version to the public?
