Hm, I tried repeatedly to get icons to show in wb window. Show all also tested.

Have to test it tomorrow again. I had many things to test same time. Try to find webdav service, tinkering with protocols and ports and so on.

Does it support https/443 also ?

Cool feature should be, if handler decrypts/encrypts files on the fly. This is actually one feature, what my clients ask, when we talk about cloud-services in general.

Nice to hear, that username@domain.com:password combination works.

Webdav looks like good solution, since we dont have laptop amiga. So it is easy to push them to webdav server and use everywhere with any system.

Im pretty impressed about that program :)
