I'm very keen to get wireless up and running on my SAMep, but it's in a tiny case so would need a low profile card (or preferably a USB dongle). Any ideas on which one to get? I'm happy to splash out on a couple of different ones to try out and pay for a working driver.

There should be some cards available with a low-profile bracket, but you should probably wait until the problems other SAM users have with Atheros cards are resolved. There are no USB WiFi dongles available that have Amiga drivers unfortunately.
