Because hw with G4 and Altivec is need it (so optimization and all that tasty things possible). As well as need hardware which 100% prove to have all working drivers, have no single problem with anything, and support all possible stuff (and 3d , and 2d, and compositing, and overlays, and sound, and networks : everything and all is good and as should).

AmigaOne XE with G4 also can be ok, but its more rare that peg2, and prove to die more often in compare with peg2. So because of that we choice peg2. But if there will be option with AoneXE with G4/1ghz, and it will works without problem and cost 500E with os4, then why not too.
