Don't worry. Its planned. 😊

I won't tire you with yet another "when it's done", but... well... it is an appropriate response.

I'll either continue what was started back in 2003-2004 by Peter Werno, or do a new implementation, looking at combining a GNU Classpath and OpenJDK implementation. (GNU Classpath being the "older", Java 5-only class library currently used by JAmiga, and OpenJDK being the official class library by Oracle with support for Java 8 and beyond.) Most likely I'll start looking at what was done, and take it from there.
