latm is in 2.0 but perhaps it's been renamed. As for wav and pcm, there's so many options I can't tell you which ones to use.

I was going to say libvpx_vp8 and libvpx_vp9 but then I realised that's probably not the same as vp8 & vp9 without the libvpx prefix. There's probably internal decoders for it, and of course you'd want to use them to keep filesizes down and reduce the amount of dependencies.
