Meanwhile situation changed. I did not reinstall Odyssey nor did I change any configuration. The only thing I did was updating AOS4 beta with all available components (as I always do as soon as I go online using AOS4).

Now Sparde SSL still does not work but clicking on google search results opens now the resultpage (in same or own tab, depending which mouse button I use for clicking).

Before this only empty white pages have been opened (I took a screenshot and also let me show the HTML source of those blank pages, so if somebody is interested I can post it here).

At least one topic resolved for me (for whatever reason, maybe some MUI component, I do not have any clue).
