Like I said in my e-mail, I still think it's useless to keep dedicated forums at OpenAmiga.org. Developers never used them and never will, as dev stuff is better discussed at OS4coding or the Hyperion forums. You better relieve the page of its clutter and instead give more prominence to Recent Updates and News. And use this Amigans sub-forum if you want to reach a wider audience with important news. The recent positive feedback, I think, gives enough proof that it works.
