- minor fix in about on which javier point out in previous posts

- fixed long-standing and problematic bug : locale agnostic accept-language headers. Before (since and include first 1.9 port), it was just all the time EN, so, all the locale-agnostic sites you visit always was in English by default.

Now, depends on what your prefs:locale settings is, odyssey will produce correct accept-language header , as it was on morphos since 1.2 version. The differences now is that aos4 native code is used where need it, list of counties are bigger (~50 instead of ~15) and it works. The good tests that it works can be <http://facebook.com>. Or, if you are interesting in more low-level tests, then: <http://www.reliply.org/tools/requestheaders.php>
