Any chance of looking at the filter buffers? eg. doing womething like:

That appears to be a bug in the original Dopu5. The autodocs state that the parsed pattern buffer should be twice as large as the input pattern. The original OS3 version could have had a buffer overflow and caused problems. Probably very few people used patterns as long as yours.

The structure where the buffer size is defined is used in a number of places so it may take a day or 2 to make the changes.
