I seem to be the champion complainer in this forum!

Anyway, I guess I had never had occasion to try this before, but I clicked on a Youtube link in a Usenet post. Up came NetSurf tuned to the proper page, but no graphics, meaning not only no arrowhead to click on in the middle of the screen, but also no pictures in the list of other videos down the righthand side. Have I got something not set right, or is this the way Netsurf is supposed to work in AmiCygrix?

Theoretically, one could copy the URL and paste into Odyssey's address requester, but copy and paste between AmiCygrix and Workbench (or DOpus5 now) is another thing that works weirdly on my machine.
