.are you planning to support AmigaInput so we could get the perfect feeling like it were back when we played the game with the Competition Pro?

Are you kidding?! Of course there will be digital joystick support! In fact there is already: go to the options menu and set up your Competition Pro. That's the joystick I'm using myself here. You can be sure that I'll make sure that it works well with it.

Ok, i don't have the digital version of that joystick anymore, it went away with all my classic stuff (apart from some boxed original games).

What about the USB version of that Joystick or other USB based joysticks?

I guess supporting AmigaInput would be sufficient to support those aswell?

(Sorry, never been able to actually plug a working joystick in through AmigaInput, so i'm a little picky)

2)

Preordering in this case means i order it and pay it up front through PayPal, right?

Because if i follow the link and order i am sent right to PayPal...just checking

3) Just some info...i'm on a X1000 with Radeon HD 7750 (passively cooled) and played the demo in 2560x1440...insane, i know 😊

Apart from some gfx/loading hiccups it was surprisingly smooth...it's going to perfectly smooth once your optimizations are in place...i'd say grand!!!
